BRYAN IS NO LONGER SECRETARY OF STATE

DIFFERED WITH PRESIDENT AND OTHER CABINET MEMBERS OVER SECOND NOTE TO GERMANY

HIS RESIGNATION PROPHECIES THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL ENTER ON A VIGOROUS FOREIGN POLICY

(Associated Press)

(Special by Associated Press to Star)

WASHINGTON, D. C., 5:15 p. m., June 8.—Secretary Wm. J. Bryan this afternoon submitted his resignation to President Wilson. The resignation was accepted. The secretary tendered his resignation to the president as the result of differences of opinion over the United States note about to be sent to Germany.

REASONS FOR BRYAN'S RESIGNATION

Washington, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan today returned to private life, after two years and three months as secretary of state. He resigned yesterday because he couldn't join in approval of the note to Germany, or reconcile its principles to the prevention of war, which he claims is nearest his heart.

Mr. Bryan's resignation has developed an unusual situation in domestic politics and made a grave turn in the United States' foreign policies. The main features are the effect Mr. Bryan's resignation will have on the relations between the United States and Germany. There had been intimations from official sources in Berlin that the United States note could not be taken seriously, as it was known Mr. Bryan was committed against drastic measures. It is believed his withdrawal from the cabinet will produce a profound impression in Germany at this critical stage.

The American note is expected to go forward today. All the cabinet officers but Bryan approved of it.

LANSDING SUCCEEDS BRYAN

FOREIGNERS TAKE NOTICE

Foreign diplomats interpret the withdrawal of Mr. Bryan as significant of a more forceful course by the United States, and many of them have cabled their government in cipher the change and its significance.

HE WAS RATTLED

Yesterday afternoon, a young man named Tindale, saying he was from Kendrick, applied to the county judge for a marriage license, and obtained it. Later, he returned, saying he had given the name of the wrong young lady. He obtained a license in the name of himself and Miss Lucile Vidal, said to be from Gainesville, and then not knowing that Judge Smith was an adept at marrying, he chased himself all around town looking for a preacher. All were out of town, and the young couple started northward. At 8 o'clock a phone message from Redick said they passed thru there and were still going.

Mr. Tucker is representing the General Electric Company and is prepared to install these isolated electric lighting plants for homes, stores, public halls, etc., in the country districts or small towns where there is no public service plant. These plants can be installed very cheaply and will supply abundant electricity without any trouble and with only a nominal expense after installation.

Mr. Tucker expects to cover the country, introduce and install these plants, which he says is one of the greatest conveniences of modern times for the people of the rural districts.

COMMISSION REFUSED COMMUTATION

FRANK WILL PROBABLY HANG FOR MURDER OF MARY PHAGAN

(Associated Press)

Atlanta, June 9.—By a vote of two to one, the Georgia prison commission today declined to recommend commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence pronounced on Leo M. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan. The commission presented its report to Governor Slaton, who is at liberty to either reject or approve its recommendations. Commissioners E. L. Rainey and R. P. Davidson voted again a recommendation for clemency. Commissioner T. E. Patterson voted in favor of commutation.

The majority report pointed out that all court decisions were against Frank; that no new evidence had been shown; that the commissioners felt "constrained to not interfere with the enforcement of the orderly judgment of the courts."

Commissioner Patterson, dissenting, said a consideration of the evidence left him mind open as to whether there was room to doubt the story told by James Conley, negro, the one principal witness.

VAGRANT ARRESTED

A 16-year-old boy, Oscar Higginbotham, who said he was from Arcadia, has been in the city since Saturday. The boy said he left home to find work and pretended to be trying to find something to do. He called at the Star office Saturday afternoon and has been seen on the streets ever since. This afternoon, on advice from Sheriff Dishong of Arcadia, the lad was arrested by a deputy sheriff who took him to jail in a car. At the jail yard, before the deputy could get out of the car, the boy leaped out and ran. The deputy fired his pistol several times to make the boy stop, and finally the boy fell to the ground and laid there till picked up. He was not injured, the deputy having no intention of hurting him. He was locked up to await word from the authorities or his father at Arcadia. It is said this is the second time the boy has run away from home.

AMERICAN NOTE ON ITS WAY

FULL TEXT WILL BE GIVEN THE PRESS FRIDAY MORNING

EVIDENT FROM BRYAN'S REMARKS THAT IT WILL BE ANY- THING BUT HUMBLE

(Associated Press)

Washington, June 9.—Robert Lansing, counselor for the state department, was today appointed secretary of state ad interim, by President Wilson to succeed William Jennings Bryan. The change in the cabinet took effect with the dispatch of the rejoinder to Germany on the Lusitania incident, which states in unmistakable terms the demands of the United States. Differing not in the object sought, the prevention of war, but in the method of approaching the problem, Bryan resigned rather than sign his name to the note. The decision to send the note to Germany today was reached after a conference between President Wilson and Mr. Lansing. It will be given out for publication in Friday morning's newspapers.

BRYAN'S STATEMENT

Secretary Bryan this afternoon made public the statement of his resignation simultaneously with the dispatch of the American note to Berlin. Mr. Bryan advocated in his statement that difficulties between Germany and the United States should be investigated by an international commission, that Americans should be warned to keep off belligerent ships, or those carrying ammunition through the canal zone.

BRYAN SAID GOOD-BYE

Mr. Bryan called at the White this afternoon and bid the president good-bye. The meeting was cordial.

BOARD OF TRADE

MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS TO BE ATTENDED TO AT TO- NIGHT'S MEETING

The first meeting for June of the Board of Trade will be held this evening. There will be two very important matters to look after. One is the place Ocala shall take on the Central Florida section of the Dixie Highway. The other is making a fight to hold the section of Marion county that the Bloxham divisionists are trying to take from us. By hard work and good luck, we may retain it. At any rate, it is to the interest of every citizen of Ocala to try.

HOW OCALA WILL LOOK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS HENCE

Tho it was very early, before 5 a. m., there were many people in the dining room, and as they did not seem to be trying to catch a train, I inferred it was their regular breakfast hour, which was confirmed by the waiter bringing me a rather substantial feed. After breakfast, I descended to the office, not being able to restrain my anxiety about my two nickels, for it seemed too good to be true that they would really bring me in $500.

The same clerk was behind the desk, in conversation with an alert looking man, who, notwithstanding the passage of years I had no difficulty in identifying as Louis N. Long Jr., tho he was only an 11-year-old boy, sturdy, self-reliant, but always courteous as well as smart, when I saw him last. He managed the hotel now, while Louis N. Sr., who came to in the days of depression of 1913-15, sat back in placid content and watch things run smoothly on the foundation he laid twenty-five years before.

As I had had a shave and haircut since he saw me, the clerk had to look at me twice before he recognized me. Then he introduced me to Louis Jr., asked if I had everything I wanted, and added that as soon as the banks opened, at 8 o'clock, I should have the money. Meantime he handed out twenty dollars in small bills, at the same time asking my name. Remembering a handle fixed on me by a friend years before, and which seemed very appropriate now, I told him it was "Old Scooter," which he accepted with the utmost politeness, and told me one of the hotel autos was at my disposal to take me around the city, a courtesy which I found was extended to every guest from abroad.

A bellboy led me thru a passage to a garage in the northeast corner of the building, about where Spencer's place used to be. In a minute I found myself in a neat little runabout, which was soon whisking thru the streets at a lively rate.

I have already described the buildings about the square, and I found this description of edifices, tho not so high, reaching from Adams street to South Fifth, and from Osceola over to Orange—not a very great area, but owing to the height of the buildings able to cover twenty thousand business people who could attend to two or three times as many customers. That is to say, that in this space seventy or eighty thousand people could move around at once without being in each other's way. Looks like
